About Prodware

Vitaldent, one of the most important dental health groups in Spain with more than 300 clinics, was looking to make a leap in personalizing the customer experience. In 2019, Vitaldent incorporated Microsoft Dynamics 365 Finance and Microsoft Dynamics 365 Supply Chain Management to improve the productivity and management of its back-office processes. Further boosted by a deployment of Prodware's integrated accelerator "Item Lifecycle Management".
After the success of its implementation, which has led to substantial improvements in management of the financial, commercial and after-sales areas, the Spanish dental health group has once again opted for Microsoft's cloud technology.

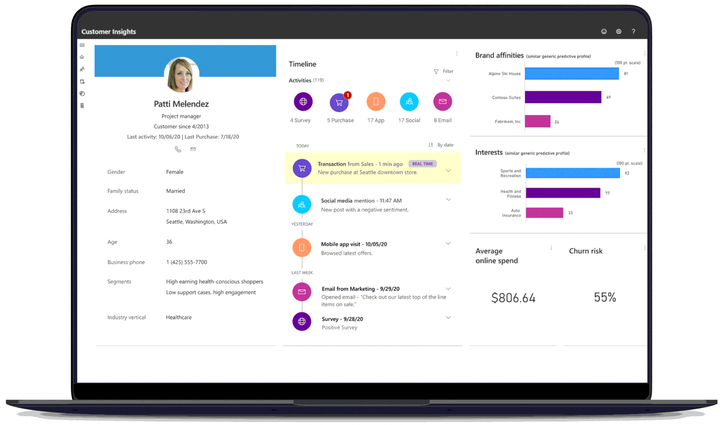
About Prodware

For this phase, with the aim of achieving a 360° vision of its patients, Vitaldent has implemented Microsoft Dynamics 365 Customer Insights and Customer Voice, cloud solutions that allow the group to feed patient data into one platform in order to interact proactively with them.

This new step in the digital transformation plan of Vitaldent, supported by the Microsoft cloud, improves and deepens patient interaction, in a unified way across its entire clinic network. Now each clinic is able to maintain a constant communication between patient and oral health professional. The system sends questionnaires, within tolerance levels, to track patient treatment in a much more personalized and immediate way. At the same time, patients can interact with the clinic, where and when they want. This has ensured that communication is fully adapted to the needs of patients and that it is faster, effective and comfortable for both parties.



> With Dynamics 365 Customer Insights so closely connected to the rest of our Microsoft business management solutions, we have a seamless data set that gives our patients the best experience when they visit our clinics.

About Prodware

One of Vitaldent's objectives is to place its patients at the center of its activity. To do this, it has made channels and tools available to them that reinforce affinity and closeness with their clinic, plus they can take advantage of the services in the specialized clinics of their network without the restrictions of an isolated system. To achieve this, it has enabled patients to be connected and therefore have the best possible experience.

With Microsoft technology, the company has a system that helps them manage their data more efficiently, maintain excellent clinic-patient communication and have a technological platform that grows with them easily. “Thanks to Dynamics 365, we have the platform we need to grow in different countries, in multiple languages and cultures. That is one of the main reasons why we chose Microsoft”, says Canals.

The company recognizes that the coordination of a group of dental health clinics depends, to a great extent, on the perfect connections between its CRM (Customer Relationship Management), patient management system and enterprise resource planning. For this reason, the company relied on the experience of Prodware, a Microsoft partner, to develop its own patient management system based on Dynamics 365. This system works with clinical data, managing the complexity of dental treatments in multiple stages, as well as patient histories.

> We are very satisfied with Dynamics 365, the patients like the result, and the clinic staff are very happy with the knowledgeabout the patients' status, especially the ability to get feedback from them in real time to be able to adjust exactly to the care they need,when they need it.

About Prodware

In addition, integration with the Microsoft cloud makes it much easier to manage Vitaldent's different data sources. With Dynamics 365 Customer Insights connected to the rest of their Dynamics 365 apps, the company has a consistent and accessible data set that provides a great patient experience.

Vitaldent professionals highlight the ease of implementation and how to use Microsoft tools. With the help of Prodware, the dental company has been able to take advantage of Dynamics 365 options in the most effective way.

Now Vitaldent is experiencing the benefits of a connected system. Data from disparate sources converges into Dynamics 365 Customer Insights, which in turn provides actionable insights into Dynamics 365 Marketing, to create better targeted marketing campaigns. The company has managed to reduce campaign development time by up to 70%. In addition, patients can request their appointments online, contact their doctor whenever and wherever they want plus the company has relevant information through instant surveys carried out.

> The implementation of the Dynamics 365 platform was easy and we started using it immediately. For people like me, who do not have a technical profile, we have been surprised by its usability and effectiveness.
